

Communicating Compassionately

A weekend Foundation workshop based on the principles of Nonviolent Communication (developed by Marshall B Rosenberg)

The Workshop

We all have a universal need for connection. This workshop offers a way of communicating that leads us to connect from the heart. We offer a guide of reframing how we express ourselves & hear others. Instead of using habitual automatic reactions, our words can become conscious responses based firmly on an awareness based on what we are perceiving, feeling & wanting.

You will learn the the language & skills of Nonviolent Communication (NVC) to empathically connect to your needs & the needs of others in order to resolve conflict peacefully.

This workshop is based on the work of Dr Marshall Rosenberg (founder of NVC)

- Develop & foster supportive relationships at home, with friends & work colleagues.
- Break patterns of thinking that can leader to anger, arguments and depression.
- Learn the skills of giving & receiving empathy.
- Learn the power of connecting to your own needs.

When: 28 & 29 November 2015

Where: TBC - Auckland

Time: 9am to 5pm both days

Investment: $250 (bring a friend for $210)

To Register: Deb Hipperson - deb@meditatinggiraffe.co.nz 0273410000
or 09 8282679

Facilitated by: Wayne Prince & Deb Hipperson
www.meditatinggiraffe.co.nz

